

Show Your Code

11/11/2009

Opening Discussion

- Next week we will start working in Eclipse. Unfortunately, it won't work under Windows for us because of a bug we can't get around. As such, we will start using Linux in class beginning next meeting.
- Your user name is the same. Your initial password is your 7-digit student ID. We'll change that on Friday, but you might want to try logging in now.

Show Your Code

- Let's go through and look at people's code.

Minute Essay

- Are you at all familiar with applets? How much do you know about the web and how it works?
- As always, any questions or comments can be put on the minute essay.
